How can I, except some man should guide me? Acts 8:31

Dear Pastor and Church,

Dedication of the New Building

During the months of May and June we worked diligently to get the new building ready to move into, and preparing the old building to be turned back over to the landlord. Since we had to be out of the old building at the end of June, we decided to have our big workday on the 20th of June, and our big moving day following the Sunday morning services on June 28th. During the week some of the men and I fixed walls and did most of the painting. It was more work than I anticipated, but God gave us strength and patience to get the job done.

God sent help from Florida

Through a missionary friend of mine, Fernando Padilla, I made contact with pastor James Green, who offered to come over to Ingolstadt and build us a platform for our new auditorium. Pastor Green, his wife and the Nesbitt family came over in the month of June and spent about 3 days working and building a platform for the church, praise the Lord, what a blessing. In the image on the left I am standing on the new platform with the men who built it.

Sowing the Seed

The most important work that we did regarding our opening day was inviting people to join us. Our desire is that as many as possible might hear and respond to the gospel being preached. We designed and had specific invitations (see below) printed just for this event, and all participated in sowing the seed.
